About this trip

Tokyo sits in the very expensive price band, so a mid hotel base and packed pace is a realistic combination for 2 traveller(s) over 8 days. This plan keeps the stay central and groups activities geographically so you spend time at places rather than between them.

Timing

You are travelling in April. Check Tokyo's monsoon, peak-season and public holiday calendar before booking: the same room can double in peak weeks.

Eating well here

Tokyo is workable on a regional diet with a little planning. No dietary restriction applied. Learning the phrase for your restriction in the local language helps more than any app.

Other costs

Visa, travel insurance, forex markup, a local SIM, tips and a small buffer. · Rs. 17,960 total

Packing list

- Passport valid at least six months beyond the return date
- Visa or e-visa approval printout
- Travel insurance policy number and 24-hour helpline
- Two payment cards enabled for international use, kept separately
- Photo ID and printed copies of every booking
- Universal power adapter and a power bank
- Refillable water bottle
- Basic medical kit: rehydration salts, painkillers, antiseptic, plasters
- Prescription medicines in original packaging with the prescription
- Light layers plus one warm layer for air-conditioning and evenings
- Comfortable broken-in walking shoes
- Sunscreen, sunglasses and a hat

Practical tips

- Download an offline map of Tokyo before you land.
- Keep a day's cash in small notes; many small vendors will not take cards.
- Screenshot your bookings - connectivity at arrival is unreliable.
- Agree the fare before getting into any vehicle without a meter.
- Build in one unplanned afternoon; the best parts of a trip rarely come from the plan.
- Tell your bank the travel dates so cards are not blocked mid-trip.
- Compare an eSIM against local SIM pricing before you travel.
- This is a dense schedule - drop one activity a day rather than rushing all of them.

Before you book

- Costs here are estimates from reference data, not live quotes - verify before booking.
- Check the current travel advisory and entry rules for Tokyo before paying for anything.
- Confirm visa processing time; some e-visas still take two weeks.

How these numbers were produced

Planned by reference templates (no AI key configured). Every cost below was recalculated from reference pricing data; the planner's own figures were corrected where they were implausible.

- Generated from reference templates and pricing data - no AI key is configured.
- Day 8 is the departure day: removed one night of accommodation that would not actually be paid for.
